New Segregation and Safer Roads at CBH Facility

CBH's expansion work at the Dumbleyung site includes two new open bulkheads which greatly increase storage and a new amenities area which have all been completed in time for harvest.

The new open bulkheads include a new conveyor, ancillary plant and equipment; new access and bypass roads including tie ins to existing facilities, while the new amenities area includes parking, a crib room and toilet facilities.

Manager – Project Delivery Brad Ashworth said he was really pleased with the upgrades and that they were ready in time for this year's harvest.

"The Dumbleyung expansion project has delivered significant improvements to the grower experience for delivery to site with the two new bulkheads and the improved road interface."

"All the trucks now will deliver on the site which improves grower safety, and it also improves the safety of the normal road user."

"We have also delivered upgrades to the A-type storage. There have been significant electrical and mechanical upgrades to improve rail outloading," he said.

"As yields get better, this site is key for the region to ensure that growers have a place to deliver their grain."

Area Manager Mark Pinney said the grower experience this harvest would be greatly improved thanks to the upgrades. "What this actually gives us is an extra segregation," he said.

"Historically we have only ever run a wheat line and a couple of barley lines, but now we have been able to introduce canola, which is giving an advantage to local growers." Mr Pinney said.

Jacki's Column

In our family there is a famous recipe from a favourite aunt for the most delicious carrot cake you'll ever eat.

Many family members have tried to replicate it, without success. I've tried—and my carrot cake expert taster husband has told me that I've come close to making one as good, but not 100 per cent. He still eats them though, I might add.

Isn't it funny, how two people can make the same recipe, but the end product tastes completely different? Not that I have the amazing carrot cake recipe as it is a heavily guarded secret. Not intentionally, but I feel now that the favourite aunty has gone to make carrot cakes in another realm I think the recipe may be even harder to get a hold of.

So in an effort to get in the good books with my husband as I desperately had some gardening that needed doing and gardening isn't his favourite pastime, I decided to make him some carrot cakes. My daughter had previously made a recipe which was dog friendly so her dog could eat them as it was her birthday, but they tasted pretty good for humans too. What I'm trying to say is that they weren't made from Meaty Bites.

Anyway as we tucked into these carrot cakes, I decided since they were getting such a rave review from my other half, I would attempt to make them. Which I did. Took the recipe from the website and even made the cream cheese icing, which you just HAVE to have on carrot cake or they taste like cardboard.

The reaction was mediocre. "They're OK," was the response. I was deflated—I wanted better than OK, I wanted a hell yeah!, I wanted as good as Aunty Billie's— the benchmark I was aspiring for.

So I tried another recipe, this time in my Thermomix, (AKA the German death machine—my son's nickname for it because of the noise it makes when on full speed), And it just so happened that the favourite aunty's daughter was over for a visit, which meant it was as close as I was going to get to the guru herself to taste the carrot cake.

I admit I was concerned in case the Thermo somehow distorted the texture. It does tend to smooch food up a bit—but I was feeling a bit lazy and decided I'd like the Thermo to grate the carrots instead of me. And the reaction I got made me think I would make all my carrot cakes in the Death Machine in future. It was very positive and got a nod of approval from both husband and visiting aunty's daughter.

And it made realise that perhaps even if I did get my hands on the blueprint of the original recipe it probably wouldn't taste as good anyway. Because I would be making it in a different kitchen, in a different temperature and cooking it in a different oven.

And then maybe Aunty Billie was an astute measurer of ingredients and I'm more of a "She'll be right" cook—if it looks like half a cup of flour that will be close enough for me.

And then there's quality of ingredients—free range and home grown chook's eggs as opposed to cage ones and pure silky flour as opposed to black and gold brand.

Probably even the age of the carrots and organic or non organic would make a difference to the cake's flavour.

Now even my grandkids are getting in the act of telling Nanny how she should be doing things in the kitchen.

The other day I offered Mikey (age 5) a square of finger jelly—which used to be an all-time favourite with my kids when they were little. Not so Mikey—he held the red square of jelly gingerly between finger and thumb at arm's length after tasking a bite of it.

"Nanny I think you forgot to put more water in this" he said. I explained it was finger jelly and it was meant to be firm so you could hold it, but Mikey wasn't impressed. "But it's too hard," he insisted.

Oh well, you can't please everyone...

Alinta Energy Christmas Pageant 2022

If you are heading to Perth this weekend and want to treat the family to some free seasonal fun, then.....

Perth CBD is gearing up for thousands of families to flock to St Georges Terrace for the annual Alinta Energy Christmas Pageant. The city will see a parade of floats, dressed in lights and decorations, make their way through the CBD that becomes a Christmas summer wonderland for the event.

To be held on Saturday 3 December, the parade will start at 7:30pm and finish with the last float at around 9:30pm. Early attendance is encouraged from about 5:30pm to ensure you get a good spot to settle in and enjoy the free entertainment. You can expect to see some fan favourite and new floats, bands, music, dancers, Channel 7 personalities and of course the main event—Santa Claus and his reindeer.

Running since 1972, the Pageant has become people’s favourite event of the year, with regular attendees recommending a few essentials such as picnic rugs, plenty of water and snacks, jackets and blankets, as well as pavement chalk for the kids to draw on the road.

So a few logistics—prime viewing is anywhere East of the start line, St Georges Terrace and William Street, all the way to the corner of St Georges and Victoria Avenue. There is NO public viewing of the pageant WEST of the start line. The start line at William Street is a very popular location, however not always the best spot to view the pageant. We suggest you move east down the pageant route to secure the best possible viewing location. Transperth public bus and train schedules will be operating but due to the road closures some of the bus routes will be impacted and it is suggested that you plan your journey using the Transperth App or Journey Planner on the Transperth website.

Landcare Update

Despite the trials and tribulations over the last six months the Dumbleyung Landcare Inc. Committee is still vibrant, enthusiastic and operating within the Shire.

The committee held its AGM recently, having to slot it in when wet weather brought harvest to a halt.

A big thank you to all those members who attended and on behalf of the committee we are excited to announce we received nominations from two local residents who wish to join the committee. These prospective new members will be co opted onto the committee and will be welcomed aboard at the next meeting.

The election of office holders was conducted and the committee is pleased to announce the following: Hayden Gossage has stepped up to take the lead role as the incoming chairperson and James Bennett accepted the deputy chairperson role. Claudia Hadlow will remain as the secretary.

The working committee representatives (Todd Gray, Harley Bairstow and proxy Hayden Gossage) are liaising with the Shire representatives to enable a Landcare service to continue for Shire ratepayers.

Todd Gray, a representative of the working group informed the meeting of the latest information he has received from the consultant who was employed by the Shire to investigate various landcare working models. She will present her findings to the working group in February 2023.

Another exciting development is the receipt of news from the Ag Institute Australia WA chapter who are instigating a move to bring the industry together by creating a student compendium which will endeavour to benefit the industry by creating pathways and much needed opportunities for students to enter into the agriculture industry.

The group will register an "Expression of Interest" to the Ag Institute Australia WA chapter to join this new venture to attract student graduates to our shire to gain experience working in Landcare.

The committee are willing to keep a level of service available to ratepayers and in doing so it becomes another voluntary organisation operating in the Shire.

Remembrance Day Service Held at Waratah

“They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old: Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn. At the going down of the sun and in the morning, We will remember them.”

With help from the Wagin RSL, Waratah Lodge were humbled to be able to host its own Remembrance Day services for all of residents, their families, or members of the public.

Waratah is are very proud of its current and past residents who have served our country within the armed forces and thus, in our preparation to acknowledge the service, all of our residents come together, in a bid to show their support. From making poppy sheaths to pin upon our labels to decorating the common rooms with photos and pictures in commemoration of those who have served; even joining together to make our their wreaths, our residents take great pride in showing their respect and this year was no different.

This year we were honored to have two of our residents who had served in World War II.

With one, Joseph Zis, having signed up for the air force when he was just shy of his 18th Birthday. Joseph joined the 76th Spitfire Squadron in the Australian Airforce, as an airframe fitter. An airframe fitter is a key man in any RAAF Squadron as they are tasked with keeping the aircraft flying! Joseph Zis served three years, at Morotai, near the Philippines, where he served alongside the American Army. The Battle of Morotai began on the 15th of September 1944 and continued until the end of the war in 1945. The Australian and American forces landed southwest corner of the island which they needed as a base to be able to support the liberation of the Philippines later that year and successfully constructed two major airfields, along with other facilities, which played an important role in liberating the Philippines. Joseph was serving when the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, took place.

Our other veteran resident, Herbert Sharp, was 18 years old when he joined the army as a machine gunner. The Machine Gunner is responsible for the tactical employment of the 7.62 mm Medium Machine-Gun, the 50 cal., and 40mm Heavy Machine-Gun, and their support vehicle. Machine Gunners provide direct fire in support of the Infantry squads/platoons and companies.

Herbert served in the 3rd Battalion of the Australian Army alongside the English and had the horrific job of aiding in the clean-up of Hiroshima after the bomb had been dropped. They had to clear the rubble from the streets and restore the infrastructure necessary to rebuild the city, water and sewage lines, electrical lines, food distribution, etc. By August of 1947, two years after the bombing, the majority of those living in Hiroshima were still in temporary shelters, but there were stores and homes that had begun to be rebuilt. Herbert went on to join the Australian Airforce in 1956, where he served for 12 years as a Sergeant.

This Remembrance Day saw both Herbert and Joseph lay wreaths in honor of their fallen comrades. And in a very moving service, we were all able to show not just our respect, but our humbled gratitude to them, and many others who have served our country diligently, throughout the years.

Work/Life Balance – Strike it Right

How many times have we heard the phrase getting the balance right; what does this even mean? If we look up the word balance in the dictionary we will find 18 definitions, depending of course on the way in which the word is used. The context of a work/life balance also depends on individual circumstance and attitude; whether we are single or married, studying, self-employed, contracting, FIFO, caring for someone or raising a family.

To assess if we have a healthy work/life balance, firstly identify the prominence of work in your situation and how do you define work? Does it challenge/drive you, is it enjoyable, does it provide a sense of satisfaction/purpose or is it just a means to an end?

Let's be realistic and honest, for most of us if we don't work, we don't get paid, if we don't get paid, we can't live the life we want or do the things we enjoy. It's always a bit of a mix and getting the balance right is important.

The life side of things for most of us is usually enjoying some form of interaction with others. This can happen through our hobbies, sport, children, family, religious congregation, social and community groups, or by volunteering (ironically work can also provide interaction with others).

The best fit when considering work/life balance is to have these two areas well-proportioned and harmonious. It's important for us blokes to remember that there is more to our lives than just our jobs and we must be encouraged to invest in the other areas of our lives.

This work/life balance can be disturbed when we are under pressure or feeling distressed by events in our life. It is common for blokes to disengage from others and try to solve problems and deal with stressors alone. Unfortunately, by doing this we remove ourselves from valuable support systems, which in turn creates and exacerbates feelings of loneliness and isolation.

It's important to remember during difficult times to maintain and re-engage with social opportunities as this is a significant part of positive mental health, coping and overall wellbeing. Something as simple as taking time out, talking, having a laugh with others and even if we are busy, making time to have that game of bowls or connecting with our kids or partner, is essential to get the work/life balance back on track.

Having a busy life may lead us to feel that there is more to do than what seems reasonable in any given day. We all get equal measures of time, there is 24 hours in a day for everyone. Why then, is it that for some of us 24 hours never seems enough, while others seem to have plenty of time? Perhaps we need to ask ourselves is time the problem, or is it our ability to manage our time?

How much we have on our plate varies throughout the year, so we need to be aware to continually monitor our time to ensure that for most of the year we have a well-proportioned and harmonious work/life balance.

The Importance of Height Safety for Australian Workers

Working at heights is a high risk activity. It's a leading cause of serious injury and death in Australia. In some industries, it is inevitable that workers will be exposed to these risks on a daily basis, which emphasises the importance of building a height safety culture in the Australian workforce.

The call for prevention and an increase in safety measures is justified by the chilling facts surrounding fall-related fatalities in Australia. Reducing the hazards of working at heights requires an understanding of the risks.

Between 2003 and 2015:

- 359 workers were killed following a fall from height (making up 11% of work related fatalities)
- Half of these falls were from three metres or less
- A large number of these deaths involved falling from roofs (59), ladders (54), vehicles (27) and horses (33)

The lives that were lost and the injuries incurred over this time period could have been completely avoided. It lies within each workplace or employer to promote height safety practices and ensure appropriate training is provided. Regardless of the industry, adequate height safety practices are required for any work that involves height.

IMPORTANT RE: 2023 WORKSHOP!

WORKING SAFELY FROM HEIGHTS

A HEADS UP FOR 2023!

The Dumbleyung CRC is keen to collaborate with Katanning TAFE in early 2023 (hopefully March) and have them come and run a Working Safely from Heights course.

The course would suit anyone who is required to work at height either on a personal or professional level, and who could be at risk of injury as a result of this work.

On successful completion of this course, participants will receive a statement of attainment for the following nationally accredited units RIIWH5204E Work Safely at Heights.

Logistics are still being confirmed and expressions of interest will be taken early next year. There are 8 places and we need them all filled for the course to run. If you would like a place please keep an eye out for more details due to be released at the end of January 2023.

Avoid Disappointment, Get On Top of Christmas Shopping Early

With Senior Regional Officer for Great Southern, Steph Marsh

Christmas is an exciting and magical time of year but the lead up to the big day can often be chaotic and stressful. With online shopping scams and delivery delays, Western Australian shoppers are urged to get on top of their Christmas shopping early to avoid disappointment.

Online shopping is an easy and convenient choice to buy Christmas gifts, but Western Australian shoppers should be aware of scammers looking to trick unsuspecting victims into buying a product they may never receive.

Already in 2022, WA ScamNet reports 354 Western Australians have lost a total of $1,074,637 to online shopping scams through a range of fake websites and social media pages.

To be cyber safe when shopping online, look at the overall quality of the website or social media page. If there are grammatical errors, poorly edited images and no address for their location, it could be a scam.

Another red flag is the method of payment requested, only pay by credit card or a secure payment method like PayPal. That way, if something goes wrong, you can get your money back much easier. Don't be fooled into paying via electronic funds transfer, money order, pre-loaded money card or crypto currency as it is unlikely you will get your money back through this method if you don't receive your goods.

With record numbers of Australians shopping online, deliveries are already surging so it is recommended to do online shopping and post your Christmas gifts early. Check the guide on the Australia Post website for when to post parcels so they arrive in time for Christmas.

Online retailers should provide a timeframe for delivery and if your goods fails to arrive by the timeframe indicated (or within a reasonable amount of time if no timeframe was indicated), your Australian Consumer Law (ACL) rights mean you can ask for a refund or credit.

For goods that don't arrive, you can seek a chargeback from your financial institution if you paid via credit card. If you paid by PayPal you can lodge a dispute for a refund.

The best advice to ensure your Christmas gifts make it under the tree this year, is to shop in local brick and mortar stores or give preference to Western Australia online retailers.

Western Australian shoppers can report a scam on the WA ScamNet website at www.scamnet.wa.gov.au

Quad Bike Safety Checks Show Improved Compliance

Ninety-four per cent of new quad bikes assessed by Australia's consumer law regulators were compliant with the national safety standard that has been in force since October last year, a nationwide surveillance program has found.

The ACCC worked with state and territory consumer protection and work health and safety agencies to conduct a second annual round of surveillance activities, inspecting over 440 quad bike dealers in the process. Manufacturers and dealers were warned where minor non-compliance issues were found. The ACCC and state and territory consumer protection agencies are investigating a small number of instances where potentially serious non-compliance was identified, including in relation to the safety of the operator protection devices.

"It's encouraging to see compliance with the standard has improved from 84 per cent in 2021 to 94 per cent this year. It shows that manufacturers and dealers are taking their obligations seriously and have co-operated with our investigations, taking steps to fix problems when necessary," ACCC Deputy Chair Mick Keogh said.

"Where we found non-compliance, it was largely due to quad bikes being displayed at the point of sale without age warning labels, rollover warning labels, lateral roll stability tags or owner manuals."

Tragically, there have been 180 deaths associated with the use of quad bikes since 2011. The number of deaths has reduced significantly since 2020 when there were 24 lives lost in quad bike incidents, to 11 in 2021 and nine so far this year.

"We don't want to see anyone hurt or killed while riding a quad bike, so we are urging Australians to heed the safety advice and take extra care in areas that have been impacted by recent heavy rain and flooding. Sadly, we see more quad bike accidents happen during the summer holiday period so now is the time to make sure your quad bike is safe, including by fitting operator protection devices," Mr Keogh said.

FROM THE CEO'S DESK

The Shire of Dumbleyung has chosen a preferred concept design for a new Dumbleyung Swimming Pool. The new design was selected by a Project Working Group consisting of selected community members and shire councillors.

The working group was ably supported by both shire staff and professional architectural and engineering consulting advisors (both with significant experience in new pool design and builds). This advice showed the current main pool and plant room equipment is no longer salvageable.

The preferred design looks to replace what is no longer usable (particularly with a replacement main pool and toddlers pool) in a modernised plan and meeting current standards required.

The realities of building anything in the current economic environment has also struck home with the expected cost of full pool development coming in at $8.5M (stages 1 and 2).

The Shire has undertaken financial modelling to determine options to fund the swimming pool development attached. Unfortunately current external funding options are limited.

Instead, the Shire will look to stage the development utilising existing Federal Government (circa $1.2M) LRCI grant funds which must be acquitted (spent in two separate tranches) by 30th June 2023 and 30th June 2024 respectively. Using these funds, stage 1 will be earmarked towards the building of a new kiosk, pool plant room, toilets and changeroom facilities on the north side of the pool in line with the concept design. Unfortunately stage 1 funding does not cover filtration, pumps and balance tank.

It is anticipated that this new building structure can be utilised as a Community Gym (with equipment) in the interim until the pool is able to be built. This will enable another important community health and fitness facility to be created until an affordable financial solution can be identified to fund future stages of pool development.

The Shire will now seek full design drawings and related project information, including costs, for the Stage 1 development. This information will be important to confirm whether the Shire has adequate funding to go to tender for these works. The current situation also confirms that the Shire may be without a new swimming pool for potentially quite some time.

The Shire remains hopeful that the Federal Government might reintroduce a new regional grant scheme to replace the previous successful Building Better Regions Fund (BBRF). This could then be targeted to leverage the State Government Community Sporting and Recreation Facilities Fund (CSRFF), noting that this program has only $12.5M available per round across the entire State (including metropolitan Perth).

The Shire of Dumbleyung is seeking community feedback on the concept design work produced to date, including proposed next steps. Please send through your email feedback to the Shire by no later than Tuesday 13th December 2022 to enquiries@dumbleyung.wa.gov.au

An uncosted pool masterplan concept design has also been developed for future use, if the Shire is successful in securing additional grant funding, following pool development (masterplan design can be found on the Shire website).

Please visit our website for further information on the pool concept design and funding model: <https://www.dumbleyung.wa.gov.au/publicnotices>

DUMBLEYUNG LANDCARE COMMUNITY MEETING UPDATE

On Monday, 17th October 2022, 31 people / 15 farming enterprises attended an open community evening workshop facilitated by Sue Middleton from Agdots to provide input into the future of Agriculture and Landcare in the Shire of Dumbleyung.

The program outline for the workshop included:-

- An outline of business models for groups from other areas, including what's happening in the funding world
- Workshop participants were able to provide input on priority areas to progress agriculture, including Landcare for Dumbleyung

The workshop took time to acknowledge the achievements of Landcare in Dumbleyung including total grant income received from 2015 to 2022 amounting to $1,065M with one full time Shire funded staff member employed during this time.

Consideration was then given to some of other groups currently in operation and investigated, including:

- Facey Group – 20 years old, annual turnover of circa $1.5M with 8 staff (part time and casuals); Shire contribution rent free building, cost neutral CEO car plus $10k per annum sponsorship
- West Midlands Group – 15 years old, annual turnover of circa $1M with six staff (mix of part time and casuals); Shire(s) contribution $Nil
- Wagin Woodanilling Group – 23 years old, one full time staff with active volunteers; Shire(s) contribution $25K from Wagin and $15K from Woodanilling, plus in kind support
- Southern Dirt – 12 years old, annual turnover of $260K (net profit in 22/23 budgeted at $100K) one part time employee plus contractors for specialist functions (i.e. agronomists); Shire contribution $15K from Shire of Kojonup plus rent free office (but may change in future as Shire looks to reduce costs)

The consensus of those in attendance at the meeting identified two key functions for the new entity – (1) Landcare and ecotourism (not visitor centre) and (2) Sustainable and profitable agriculture.

In terms of key strategy areas to be targeted, the top ranked priorities were Salinity, Sustainable and profitable agriculture (local R&D), Sustainable organisation and Biodiversity protection and improvement (including revegetating, fencing, tree planting, etc).

Agdots will now consider and incorporate this feedback into a draft one page strategic plan for the new entity and finalise the review of the different business models from other areas. The timing for delivery of a proposed new business model, determination over structure and what funding the group may seek will be due by approximately February 2023, following harvest and the Christmas/New Year period.

Shire President Julie Ramm said "those that took the time to come along to the workshop were given an opportunity to provide their input around preferred direction setting for the future. The Shire of Dumbleyung has committed significant funding and time towards this investigative work as it continues to support effort to identify future options for Agriculture and Landcare."

Once the Agdots investigative work has been completed, a draft report will be prepared with a proposed structure and strategic plan for Dumbleyung Landcare Working Group consideration. The working group is represented by two Shire Councillors and two Dumbleyung Landcare representatives.

Further updates will be provided as additional information is received.

ROADWORKS UPDATE

Will's Chat:

How manifold are your works

Since becoming a Christian I often stand in awe of the things I see around me.

So many things that I always took for granted now seem to mean more than just something that has been there all along.

I am very grateful for this, because when I observe the things around me, the trees, birds and all the living creatures it builds up my faith in God.

All that is around us offers something wonderful, some weeks ago I saw the lambs in a paddock running around and playing with each other. Yet when the time comes those lambs will go back to their own mothers, each one will know which ewe is its mother in a paddock of a hundred or more ewes.

Every bird will know where its nest is even if they fly many miles from the nest, how awesome is that?

All the beauty that surrounds us tells us where God has been and at times you might even still feel His presence there.

Some songwriters have put these observations to music, one that comes to mind, is a song from the nineteen fifties, [yes it shows my age] .

Called, 'I believe' possibly first sung by Jane Froman c.1952 and popularized by singer Frankie Lane 1953.

It has since become well known through performers such as Elvis Presley and Johnny cash among many others.

Psalm 104, which is a long one, gives praise to the Lord for His creation.

Verse 24 says, 'O lord how manifold are your works! In wisdom you have made them all'.

The psalmist begins with the words Bless the Lord, O my soul and ends using these same beautiful words.

In between these is a lovely song of praise and recognition to God for all that He has given to us here on the earth and in the sea.

For me to believe that it all came about purely by chance is a bit challenging.

Take time out to observe the works of our Creator and marvel at His creation.

The Psalms are a lovely book to read as well.

Community update

Shire of Dumbleyung

The grid of the future

Western Power is a Western Australian State Government owned corporation responsible for an electricity network that connects our 2.3 million customers to traditional and renewable energy sources, delivering an essential service to our community.

Where once our network consisted of only wires, poles and substations, we're now integrating technologies such as stand-alone power systems (SPS), microgrids, disconnected microgrids and battery storage units to better meet the needs of our customers.

The SPS program

Already 150 SPS have been deployed across the state, with plans to roll out a further 4000 in the coming decade.

Round Three kicks-off in November and in the Shire of Dumbleyung, 19 SPS units are proposed. They are subject to a site assessment and selection, ahead of installation planned during 2023/24.

Round Four has commenced, with a desktop review to identify potential locations and could result in more units allocated to customers in the Shire.

Maintaining our network

Western Power's network maintenance programs are constantly improving the way assets are managed, including the 860,000 poles in the network. We have in place a comprehensive poles and wires maintenance and bushfire mitigation programs to help minimise the risk of outages, including those related to pole top fires.

What does this mean for Shire of Dumbleyung customers?

A substantial work program was completed in the Shire during the 2021/22 financial year, which included:

- replacing/reinforcing – 290 poles
- replacing/repairing – 55 other pole top equipment with known conditions
- pole replacements include new insulators less prone to pole top fires

During the 2022/23 financial year, the following works are planned:

- replacing/reinforcing poles and associated equipment – 121
- replacing/repairing – 56 other pole top equipment with known conditions
- pole replacements include new insulators less prone to pole top fires

Fast fact

Why the base of Western Power poles are painted green...

The green paint used at the bottom of the poles is a copper, chrome, arsenic (CAA) treatment. It provides a fire protection layer at the base of the poles to prevent fire travelling up the pole, so treating only the bottom of the pole is required.

Supporting volunteer bushfire brigades

At Western Power we recognise the vital role volunteer bush firefighters play, by generously giving their time to keep regional communities safe.

Since 2007, Western Power has proudly supported these brigades through a grants program used to fund additional resources which increases their capabilities to assist with protecting lives, homes and businesses.

Applications for the latest grants round opened on 15 October 2022 and will close on 30 November 2022. Funds will be distributed to successful applicants by the end of the year. The online application form can be accessed at www.bushfire.org.au/western-power-bushfire-volunteers-grant-applications-now-open/

Western Power would like to thank and acknowledge the volunteers from the four brigades in the Shire of Dumbleyung for their efforts and support in responding to fires affecting our assets.

Did you know?

Pole top fires are not unique to WA. They can happen when the right environmental conditions occur and typically this is when there is a run of very hot, dry and windy days followed by a sudden misty, cold front. Some such pole top fires occurred in the Shire of Dumbleyung earlier in 2022.

HARVEST

HANDOUT

Ready to go?

Take 5 minutes and go through our quick and easy exercises at home before you start your day! Movement through the joints can provide lubrication within the joint space and limit stiffness throughout the day!

These are designed to be performed before you start for the day, (most likely inside, at home) but you could also use these exercises to 'cool down' once you're done.

FRIENDLY REMINDER

Make sure you've packed your water - consider adding electrolytes to your water if you are suffering from any cramping.

1. Lateral leg swing

Hold on to something for stability. Swing one leg out to the side and back across the mid-line of your body. This is a good exercise to warm up your hips and IT bands, especially if you are a runner. both sides

2. Deep lunge with trunk rotation (ADVANCED)

Stand up straight and take a large step forwards onto one leg. Bend this front leg and sink your hips down. Place your hands on the floor on the inside of your front foot. Your back leg should remain straight, balanced on the ball of your foot. Your front knee should not travel further forwards than your toes. You may need to shuffle your foot forward to achieve this. Keeping your hips pushed towards your front foot, lift the your arm on the same side as your front foot up towards the ceiling. Allow your head and body to turn and follow this movement. Hold this position before returning your hand to the floor.

3. Cat and camel pose

Start on your hands and knees with your back in a neutral position. Arch your back, lifting your head up and pushing your tail bone out, making a dish with your spine. Hold this position. Next, bend your back up by tucking your head and tail bone in and pulling your belly button in towards your spine, making a curve through your back. Hold this position, and then repeat.

This resource is developed as general advice only. Common sense and knowing the limitations of your own body should be considered before performing these exercises.

Please email waginoosteopath@outlook.com if you have any questions.

IN THE Paddock | If you get a chance and you're outside for a moment- have a stretch!

HANDOUT

Keep it moving!

Designed for on the go- these exercises are to be performed outside the vehicle in the paddock! Take it easy- you might be a little stiff coming out from sitting, use this as a loosen up and not an end of range stretch! Remember to breathe!

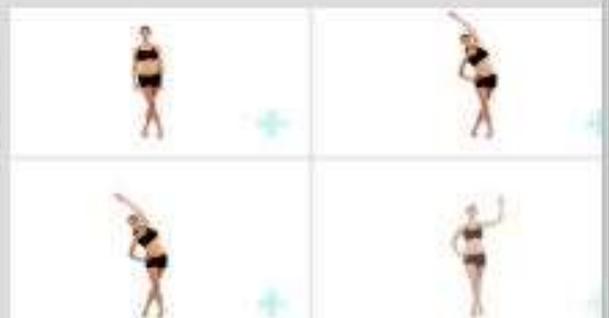

We know you're under the pump and extremely busy. But a minute or two dedicated throughout the day to this, might make life significantly easier!

DID YOU KNOW?

Your muscles are composed of 70-75% water. Make sure you've drunk enough to limit muscular pain throughout the day!

1. TFL/ITB stretch

Cross the good leg over the affected leg. Push your affected hip out to the side as you lean away from it, keeping your chest up. You should feel this stretch in the side of the hip and down the side of the thigh.

2. Windmill

Start position is standing in a wide stance with the arms stretched out to the side at shoulder level height. Move into a semi-squat and hold when arms can touch the floor, then rotate at the hips and the trunk to reach the arms toward the opposite foot. Stay balanced, with slightly more weight on the side of the reach and keep the head and chest up and aligned.

3. Soleus stretch against tyre/step/wall

Place the toes of the leg to be stretch against a tyre, wall or ledge. Keeping the heel down and the knee slightly bent, move your body forwards, stretching the calf and Achilles in this leg.

This resource is developed as general advice only. Common sense and knowing the limitations of your own body should be considered before performing these exercises.

Please email waginosteopath@outlook.com if you have any questions.

RECIPE

White Christmas Cheesecake

Ingredients:

1 1/2 x 180g block of white chocolate, chopped
3 cups rice bubbles
1/2 cup desiccated coconut
3 x 55g Turkish Delight chocolate bars, chopped
1/3 cup Pistachios, chopped
Whipped cream, to serve
Extra chopped Turkish Delight, to decorate
Red M&Ms, to decorate
Mini marshmallows, to decorate
Silver cachous, to decorate

Filling:

500g cream cheese, softened
2/3 cup caster sugar
2 tsp vanilla extract
50g sachet coconut milk powder
2 tsp gelatine powder
2 tbsp boiling water
300ml thickened cream

Method:

Grease a 22cm round (base) springform pan. Line base and side with baking paper. Line a baking tray with baking paper.

Place white chocolate in a microwave safe bowl. Microwave for 1-2 minutes, stirring with a metal spoon every 30 seconds, or until melted and smooth. Combine rice bubbles, coconut, Turkish Delights and pistachios in a bowl. Add the melted chocolate. Mix well to combine.

Spoon 2/3 of the mixture into the prepared cake tin, pressing to cover base evenly. Spoon remaining mixture onto prepared tray, without spreading. You will break this up and use this as the topping. Refrigerate pan and tray while you get the filling ready.

Using an electric mixer, beat cream cheese, sugar and vanilla together until smooth. Add milk powder. Beat until combined. Sprinkle gelatine over boiling water in a small heatproof bowl. Whisk with a fork to dissolve. Stand for one minute. Gradually beat hot gelatine mixture into cream cheese mixture until well combined. Add thickened cream. Beat until mixture is smooth and thickens.

Pour filling over prepared base and refrigerate for at least six hours or until set.

Remove cheesecake from pan and place on a serving plate. Break up the spare rice cereal into clumps. Arrange half on top of the cheesecake. Dollop with whipped cream and top with remaining rice cereal mixture, extra Turkish Delight pieces, M&MS, cachous and marshmallows.
